Article

Vocabulary

Find in the article the words or expressions corresponding to the following definitions:

- a standard or level that is considered to be typical or usual
- to need to pay or give something to someone because they have lent money to you, or in exchange for something they have done for you
- money that a student pays to a university for their teaching
- an increase in the cost of something, especially a large or unwanted increase
- -an amount of money given by a school, college, university, or other organisation to pay for the studies of a person with great ability but little money
- a person who is about to leave or has just left university
- a person or thing that has the same purpose as another one in a different place or organisation
- a group of eight respected colleges and universities in the northeast of the US (Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Yale)
- a set of classes or a plan of study on a particular subject, usually leading to an exam or qualification
- to attract attention to or emphasise something important
- a sum of money given by by an authority to an individual, especially a student in higher education, to help with living costs
- to be able to buy or do something because you have enough money or time
- an agreement that allows you to borrow money from a bank or similar organization, especially in order to buy a house, or the amount of money itself
- a period of time working as an apprentice
- to experience something, usually something unpleasant, as a result of actions you have taken
- a limit on the amount of moneythat can be charged or spent in connection with a particular activity